

Abstract

The present invention discloses a method of hardening a bone cement under an exerted pressure in a bone cavity including preparing a cement paste; injecting said cement paste into a pocket placed in a bone cavity; and allowing the cement paste to harden in the pocket. Preferably, the pocket is opened after the cement paste is set, and the opened pocket is removed from the bone cavity.